

Cat Parenti's Heroic Journey Through Afghanistan

Experience the Joys, Wonders and
Dangers in a Far-Off Land

As Seen
On...

For those of us with wanderlust, Cat Parenti shares her truly remarkable and enlightening story of life in Afghanistan, helping us to experience the wonders of a forgotten country through her eyes. Having spent 20 years in Afghanistan and Pakistan, living among the people, enjoying their culture and falling in love, Cat Parenti sweeps us along in her epic adventure as we merely sit enraptured in our seats.

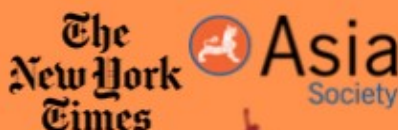

Cat was born in Brooklyn New York and majored in Russian Studies in Fordham University. After graduation, she worked as a translator in the United Nations, taught English as a second language in New York City's Berlitz School of Languages. In Afghanistan, Cat started her own handicrafts export business of antique clothing and tribal jewelry progressing to a humanitarian aid organization for Afghan refugees. She is an author, educator, humanitarian and international speaker on Afghan culture. A captivating presenter, enrapturing audiences across the country, her 2-book series; Afghanistan a Memoir from Brooklyn to Kabul, is available on Amazon.com and globally.

Cat is available to speak to media, high schools, colleges & universities, travel groups, men and women's groups, cruise ships, teacher's conferences, civic groups, etc.
